- respect your privacy
- listen to your feedback and be responsive, and
- sensitive to your cultural background.

Education clients and their carers can also expect to receive from Healthy Living NT

- considerate, respectful, culturally relevant and confidential service and advice
- a professional and understandable explanation about your condition
- advice on management and treatment of your condition based on current best practice guidelines
- advice on diabetes and cardiac products, schemes and services which may be beneficial
- prompt access to diabetes and cardiac literature, education and educators
- access to interpreter services, and
- the opportunity to interact with us through a variety of means.

What we ask of you

To assist our staff in delivering the highest quality of service, we ask that you:

- treat our staff with courtesy and respect
- provide us with accurate information, and
- advise us when your personal details change.

Your privacy

The Privacy Act 1988 regulates how Healthy Living NT handles your personal and health information and provides ways to access and correct the information held about you.

As an individual, you have the right to know:

- when your personal information is being collected by us
- who will have access to this information
- what the information will be used for, and
- whether it will be disclosed to someone other than Healthy Living NT.

You also have the right to not identify yourself, when dealing with us. For further information on how Healthy Living NT handles your personal information, and the sort of personal information that is collected and stored, please refer to our Privacy Policy and Statement.

Products

Healthy Living NT will exchange or refund faulty merchandise when proof of purchase is supplied. Requests for refunds on a product for any other reason will only be made if the product is returned unused with proof of purchase in the original packaging within one (1) month of purchase. For health and product integrity reasons, we are unable to refund or exchange the following products which have been purchased in error:

- all NDSS products
- home blood glucose monitors and similar devices
- lancets and lancet devices
- other injection devices

How you can tell us what you think of our services

We aim to continuously improve our products and services. Your feedback is important to us as it can help us make improvements for the benefit of all our customers. We also like to hear about a job well done. If you have a suggestion or feedback about our services, you can complete a Client Feedback Form available from our front counter or contact us by any of the means shown on the last page of this brochure.

It's OK to Complain!

Healthy Living NT seeks to ensure that an efficient, fair and accessible way exists for dealing with complaints. Complaints can be made in person, in writing or by phone to any of the contacts shown on the last page of this brochure.

Where possible, complaints should be resolved directly with the staff or manager of the service concerned. If you are uncomfortable with talking to the staff member directly you can ask to talk to a manager.

It is important you tell us what you expect to occur as a result of your complaint. For example, you may want an apology, explanation or change to occur that will prevent other clients from experiencing the same issue. If we are unable to meet your expected outcome, you will be advised of this, including the reason why.

Staff involved in handling complaints are required to treat all information as confidential. Your details will only be provided to personnel involved in managing the complaint. If you wish to do so, you can make a complaint without providing your name. However, this does limit our capacity to investigate the complaint. We value feedback and we will strive to acknowledge and resolve your complaint as quickly as possible.

If you are unsatisfied with the way we have managed your complaint or with the outcome of our response, you may seek an external review by the Health and Community Services Complaints Commission. The Commission is an independent statutory body established under the Health and Community Services Complaints Act which provides assistance to Territorians to resolve complaints about health, disability and aged services.
